STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The advent of modern technology has caused a shift from traditional news reporting in print, broadcast media and the internet, especially on social media platforms. We hear and read the phrase "fake news" every day. Fake news creates impression and beliefs based on false premises leading to division, misunderstanding and further exacerbating otherwise tenuous relations.

The distribution of false information through fake news has become easier in the age of internet, where anyone can post a report or a statement to resemble a news story and claim it as true and factual. Fake news or information cause or intend to cause panic, division, chaos, violence, hate or must exhibit or intend to exhibit a propaganda to blacken or discredit one's reputation. A large number of incidents of mob lynching have reported from various part of the country due to the spread of fake news in the social media like whatsapp, Facebook, Twitter, etc. Studies have also found evidence of political parties spreading propaganda on social networks during elections in the country.

With the India being one of the most virtually-connected countries in the world with million active social media users, we have access to platforms of media and access to any array of information available on the web, some with questionable sources. While the responsibility of discerning lie from truth falls with the person using the information, it is a moral duty of the State to protect its people from such lies in the first place. There is need to curb the existence of disreputable news sources and prevent established mass media outlets from careless publishing of unverified or false content.

At present, India does not have a specific law to deal with menace of fake news. Other countries have taken strides in preventing the spread of false information through legislations.

The need is to nip the cause of fake news in the bud by prohibiting the creation and malicious distribution of false information. It aims to ensure that the content being published and disseminated by mass media outlets and social media personalities are free from false, misleading or fictitious stories through a clear definition of what fake news is. It penalizes not only the creation of false content and the malicious distribution thereof, but also the failure to remove such content once it has been published, with varying penalties depending on the gravity of the act.

The need is also to encourage our citizens, especially public officers, to be more responsible and circumspect in creating, distributing and/or sharing news. Addressing national and global concerns should not be made more complicated by false news calculated to cause disunity, panic, chaos and/or violence.

In addition, penalizing mass media enterprise or social media platform that fails, neglects or refuses to remove false news or information within a reasonable period after having knowledge, or having reasonable grounds to believe of its falsity is also required.

The Bill aims to encourage responsible and credible journalism, as well as creating awareness of the harmful effects of spreading untruthful facts. Misleading and deceptive news may cause divisiveness, health hazards, security risks, panic and chaos to this nation, contrary to our Constitutionally enshrined principle of adhering to a policy of peace and cooperation.

The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
