ANSWER

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE
(SMT. ANUPRIYA PATEL)

(a) to (e): Under the National AIDS and STD Control Programme (NACP), a health care provider performs HIV screening coupled with pre-test and post-test counselling. The screened reactive cases undergo confirmatory testing for HIV with pre-test and post-test counselling at Integrated Counselling and Testing Centres (ICTCs) through a stringent three test algorithm to ensure that test results are accurate. Pre – test and post – test counselling is an integral part of HIV testing under the NACP due to the stigma and discrimination associated with HIV. Till date, the Drug Controller General of India has not issued certificate/ license to any HIV self – testing kit for use in the country. There is no provision to integrate HIV self-testing into the existing National AIDS and STD Control Programme (NACP) Phase-V.
