ANSWER THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (SHRI FAGGAN SINGH KULASTE)

- (a): With the increased availability of information including about the ill effects of polluted air, water and soil, etc., there is a growing demand for a healthy diet.
- (b): No such case has come to the notice of the Government.
- (c): A number of steps have been taken by the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) in the recent past for laying down science based standards for various food items after a careful analysis/study of all related issues by the Scientific Panels, the Scientific Committee and the FSSAI. The process of development of such standards and their revision is a continuing process and is based on new innovations, new scientific developments and international practices. The FSSAI has also issued draft Guidelines titled as "Guidelines for making available wholesome, nutritious, safe and hygienic food to school children in India" on 12.10.2015. It restricts/limits availability of most common HFSS (High in Fat, Salt and Sugar) Foods in schools and an area within 50 meters thereof.
