- (a) Whether mines are inspected regularly for compliance of safety regulations and if so, the details thereof; and
- (b) the details of safety devices to be mandatorily installed in mines?

ANSWER

THE MINISTER OF STATE (INDEPENDENT CHARGE) FOR POWER, COAL, NEW & RENEWABLE ENERGY AND MINES (SHRI PIYUSH GOYAL)

(a): The issues relating to safety of mines are regulated through the provisions of the Mines Act, 1952 which is administered by the Ministry of Labour & Employment and regulated for compliance by the Director General of Mines Safety (DGMS). As per the information received from Ministry of Labour & Employment/DGMS, the officers of DGMS make periodic inspections of all types of mines, to ensure that mining operations are carried out in accordance with the legal provisions to ensure safety of mining workers. During inspection of mines, if the workings or the environment are found to be unsafe and dangerous from the point of view of safety of workers; violation letters, notices or prohibitory orders are immediately issued to the management to take necessary steps for improvement. Unless the conditions are improved as recorded through inspections, the orders are not vacated and persons are not allowed to be deployed in such dangerous conditions. DGMS after proper enquiry also launches prosecutions against the mines which violate the rules and regulations of Mines Act, 1952. The number of inspection/enquiries made during last three years and current year in India is given below:
