Under various rounds of New Exploration Licensing Policy (NELP), 11 exploration blocks covering an area of 83,419 sq.km. were awarded in Andaman deep-water area. 27,070 Line Kilometer(LKM) of 2D and 16,516.68 Square Kilometer(SKM) of 3D seismic data have been acquired and 6 exploratory wells have been drilled. US$ 737 million has been incurred on carrying out these exploration activities.

(c) The production from an oil well depends on various factors such as reservoir profile, location, geological conditions etc. Over a period of time, the production from a well declines due to multiple reasons including aging/maturing of the well. In India, most of the production under nomination regime is from matured/aged fields/wells. In mature fields production declines over a period of time and subsequent revival of these wells is a continuous and dynamic process and is an intrinsic characteristic of any oil field. Exploration & Production (E&P) companies make efforts to revive such wells by using techniques such as periodical well intervention, workover jobs, well simulation jobs including hydro-fracturing, installation of suitable artificial lift systems and side-tracking of wells etc.
