MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY AND MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EARTH SCIENCES
(SHRI.Y. S. CHOWDARY)

विज्ञान और प्रौद्योगिकी मंत्रालय में राज्य मंत्री और पृथ्वी विज्ञान मंत्रालय में राज्य मंत्री
(श्री वाई. एस. चौधरी)

- (a) Yes, Madam.
- (b) In 2005 the Government appointed a Task force for Women in Science under the chairpersonship of Dr. Mehtab Bamji, Retd. Director, National Institute of Nutrition, Hyderabad, to suggest measures which could significantly enhance the number of women pursuing a career in science and technology and also suggest suitable gender enabling & empowering measures for working women scientists.
- (c) Yes, Madam.
- (d) The task force had several rounds of discussions in different parts of the country followed by a national level brain-storming held at Delhi which was inaugurated by the then President of India- Smt. Pratibha Devisingh Patil. The report of this Task Force was published by the Department of Science & Technology and circulated widely. The Task Force made the following recommendations:
  - 1. Fostering and supporting women resources in S&T:
    - A. Affirmative action to improve women's ratios
      - i) Introduce time-bound recruitment target system (TRS)
      - ii) Women representation in search/hiring committees
      - iii) Addressing proactively the unwritten/irrational barriers on employment of spouses
      - iv) Women-friendly proceedings of search/selection/hiring committees
      - v) Priority to women candidates in part-time jobs/jobs with flexible working hours and those workable from home.
      - vi) Many of these recommendations were included in the Memorandum of Expenditure Finance Committee of the recently launched KIRAN (Knowledge Involvement in Research Advancement through Nurturing) programme which is now being implemented by the Department of Science & Technology.

B. Enabling measures for career advancement and re-entry

- i) Target research programs for women scientists
- ii) Refresher training & mentorship programmes for women scientists for re-entry in R&D careers after a career break

C. Breaking the glass ceiling

- i) Promote women scientists as science planners and managers

D. Support related issues at workplace

- i) Financial support for improvement of overall generic facilities such as crèches, toilets, campus housing and safe transportation for post-docs and scientists
- ii) Compliance of the Supreme Court guidelines
- iii) Separate procedure for handling complaints of harassment by women scientists against the heads of the institutions
- iv) Provision for air travel even for women who are not eligible/particularly in difficult/far-flung/isolated areas

2. Measures to attract girls into science careers

- i) Summer/winter science camps for girls who have opted for science
- ii) Well-planned role-model programmes with successful women scientists
- iii) Special fellowship scheme for girl toppers in university examinations
- iv) Safe hostel accommodation in towns & cities
- v) Free/subsidized residential science schools for girls
- vi) Opportunities for closer interaction for school or college students with women scientists during scientific conferences
- vii) Educational reforms
- viii) Reinforcing representation of girls and women in science text books

3. New policies/rules and initiatives

- i) National level gender/segregated data collection/annual up-gradation and processes monitoring
- ii) Institute transformation award
- iii) From maternity leave to family leave
- iv) Salary-linked childcare allowance in the absence of crèche on campus
- v) Gender unit in all the state council for science, technology and environment
- vi) Establishment/augmentation of infrastructure of women's universities
- vii) Promoting entrepreneurship and self-employment for women scientists

The recommendations of this Task Force were broadly included in the recently launched KIRAN (Knowledge Involvement in Research Advancement through Nurturing) programme which is now being implemented by the Department of Science & Technology.

(e) Yes, Madam.

(f) Knowledge Involvement Research Advancement through Nurturing (KIRAN) Programme is being implemented by the Department of Science & Technology to provide career opportunities to those women scientists who had a break in their career due to various familial responsibilities in order to bring them back to mainstream. It is primarily aimed at gender parity in Science & Technology sector by inducting more women talent in the research & development domain through various programmes, namely, Women Fellowship Schemes [i.e. Women Scientist Scheme-A (WOS-A), Women Scientist Scheme-B (WOS-B) and Women Scientist Scheme-C (WOS-C), and Institutional support through Consolidation of University Research through Innovation and Excellence in Women Universities (CURIE)] scheme besides training them in Entrepreneurship Development and Science Communication and Mobility Scheme. Further, they are also encouraged to avail of capacity building schemes related to basic research, societal development and self-employment.
