ANSWER
THE MINISTER OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE
(SHRI JAGAT PRAKASH NADDA)

(a) & (b): The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI), in partnership with other institutions, has launched the “Clean Street Food -Delhi Project” on 13th March, 2016. The objectives of this project are to i) make a global brand out of the Indian street foods; ii) raise health and safety standards of street foods; iii) reduce incidences of street food borne diseases; iv) help street vendors improve the quality of offerings, attract more clients and earn more; v) enable street food vendors move up in life; and vi) transform the lives of millions of people at the bottom of pyramid. The Project involves training and capacity building of street food vendors and ensures proper regulatory oversight over them under the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006, and safeguard them from harassment. As against the initial target to train 20,000 street vendors across Delhi under this project, as on 25th April, 2016, 23,106 street vendors have been imparted training.

(c): Initiation or otherwise of such Project in other States/UTs would depend upon the outcome of the project in Delhi.

(d): Besides the enforcement machinery which is responsible to implement the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 and Rules and Regulations thereunder, the stakeholders have been and are being made aware about various aspects of food safety through media campaigns, documentary films, education booklets, stalls at Fairs/Melas/Events and Mass Awareness Campaigns.
